

Pedestrian Rodeo

Alameda County Safe Routes to Schools offers interactive and hands-on Pedestrian Safety Education classes at schools in Alameda County –absolutely free-of-charge!

A team of instructors conducts this engaging and fun-filled traffic simulation course. The course includes a miniature city that provides students with interactive, hands-on lessons allowing them to experience traffic situations as pedestrians in a safe learning environment. By using a realistic traffic environment set up on the playground at your school, the ability of students to recognize and avoid traffic hazards is improved. This course is well-suited for structured groups of 25-35 students in K-5th grade during the school day, after-school, or during a weekend school event.
